Stephan C. Brown - CEO/President

Stephan C. Brown is president and chief executive officer of the CAF. A former Army aviator and private pilot with more than 1,800 hours logged in military and civilian aircraft, Brown assumed his new post with the CAF on Oct. 17, 2007.

After graduating from Penn State University in 1983, Brown served as an Army commissioned officer and helicopter pilot, earning the rank of captain.

Upon his discharge from the Army in 1988, Brown began a career in sales, marketing and product development. He has almost 25 years of marketing and management experience, including four years in senior management with the Experimental Aircraft Association (EAA) in Oshkosh, Wis.

Brown was recruited by EAA in 1998 to bring the organization's marketing into the future. Under his leadership, a web presence was developed, a branding effort was implemented and what is known today as EAA AirVenture Oshkosh was solidified.
